

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

January 21, 2014

CONTACT

Cleo Anderson, Chief Security and Disclosure Officer, MT Dept. of Revenue
(406) 444-5828, canderson@mt.gov

Mary Ann Dunwell, Public Information Officer, MT Dept. of Revenue
(406) 444-6700, 461-2648 cell, mdunwell@mt.gov

Revenue Department Encourages Montanans to Guard Against Identity Theft During Tax Season

Helena – As we head into the tax season, there is no better time for Montana’s taxpayers to be mindful of the threat of identity theft. The Montana Department of Revenue would like to remind taxpayers of ways they can avoid the threat.

“The Department of Revenue takes identity theft extremely seriously,” says Revenue Director Mike Kadas, “and we’re doing all we can to prevent Montana’s taxpayers from becoming victims. But we need taxpayers to be careful as well and help us by doing all they can to make sure their sensitive tax information isn’t compromised.”

Here are some ways you can minimize the threat of identity theft:

- Use a secure internet connection if you file electronically or mail your tax return directly from the post office if you file by paper.
- Protect your personal computer by using firewalls and anti-spam/virus software.
- Shred copies of your tax return, drafts, or calculation sheets you no longer need.
- Respond to all mail from the Montana Department of Revenue and IRS as soon as possible.
- Know that the department and the IRS won’t contact you by email, text or social media. If the IRS needs information, it will contact you by mail. The department will contact you by mail or phone.
- Don’t give out your Social Security number on the phone, through the mail, or on the Internet unless you know for certain who you are giving the number to.
- Research a tax preparer thoroughly before you hand over personal information.
- If your Social Security number has been compromised, contact the IRS ID Theft Protection Specialized Unit at 1-800-908-4490.
- Check your credit report at least once a year to make sure no other accounts have been opened in your name.

The Department of Revenue takes its own precautions to guard against identify theft.

“With the increase in identity theft nationwide, we’re staying vigilant by increasing our filters to identify potentially fraudulent tax returns, reinforcing our cyber security and increasing our oversight of identity theft prevention,” says Cleo Anderson, the Department of Revenue’s Chief Security and Disclosure Officer. “We’re also coordinating efforts with the IRS and other states to protect citizens against identity theft.”

For more information about guarding against identity theft and what to do if you think you've become the victim of the crime, go to <https://doj.mt.gov/consumer/for-consumers/identity-theft/>

##